Door 3 — pane schedule

Eight panes on one double door. Four measure 900 × 500 mm and four measure 900 × 400 mm — all 900 mm high, so every design is portrait and the width is the only variable. The sizes are the client's own measurement, repeated across the three doorways; confirm each pane on site before the film is plotted.

THIS DOORWAY

- Same door, same eight panes, same measurements — but opaque film, so nothing shows through the glass.
- It leads on family care: antenatal & postnatal, paediatrics and ultrasound, with pharmacy, laboratory, minor surgery and CBC around them. WELCOME now sits on door 2, where the client asked for it.
- Because the film is solid there is no perforation to read through, so fine detail and smaller type survive: this is the door where a photograph can be printed as a photograph.
- Opaque film also means the pane can no longer be seen through from either side. That changes how the entrance looks from inside at night — the client should be shown the night elevation before this one is ordered.

Layout as measured

Two leaves, two columns and two rows per leaf: the 500 mm column on the left of each leaf, the 400 mm column on the right. If the site is the other way round, say so — the artwork is width-agnostic, but the pane numbers would swap.

WHY THE TWO WIDTHS MATTER

- Left leaf is the family leaf: antenatal & postnatal and paediatrics at full width, laboratory and pharmacy in the narrow column.
- Right leaf opens with minor surgery, then the ultrasound pane at eye level, the directory, and CBC at the foot.
- Opaque vinyl, so the photograph is not interrupted by a mesh. Print it as a photograph: the file, not the film, is now the limit on detail.
- Eight panes, seven photographs and one directory — none repeated from doors 1 or 2.
- Bleed is 10 mm on every edge, so the printed piece is 920 × 520 and 920 × 420 mm.
